Course Description

This course is identical to PHIL G150. This course introduces students to traditional philosophical issues concerning politics. Students will actively engage in an analysis of normative issues using historical insight as well as contemporary approaches. Among these issues are the nature of legitimate authority, political obligation, natural rights, equality and justice. The course emphasizes selections from the major works of such political philosophers as Plato, Aristotle, Hobbes, Locke, Rousseau, Marx and Mill. Enrollment Limitation: PHIL G150; students who complete PSCI G150 may not enroll in or receive credit for PHIL G150. Transfer Credit: CSU; UC. C-ID: POLS 120.C-ID: POLS 120.

Course Level Student Learning Outcome(s)

1. Course Outcomes
2. Identify the position of at least one philosopher regarding the legitimacy of the state.
3. Analyze the different assumptions and values about human nature and reality embedded in each body of theory and examine the way these starting premises shape the question asked and conclusions reached.

4. Evaluate the usefulness of each body of theory towards a better and more comprehensive understanding of political life and political institutions.

Course Objectives

- 1. Identify and evaluate philosophical arguments regarding government and politics based on original texts and primary sources.
- 2. Describe and analyze the different assumptions and values about "human nature" and "reality" embedded in each political theory.
- 3. Evaluate arguments on the ideal form of government from various philosophical perspectives.
- 4. Identify the unifying themes within periods of political thought.
- 5. Compare and contrast the way that concepts and issues may be defined by various political theorists and identify their strengths and weaknesses.
- 6. Assess the contribution of each political theory towards a comprehensive understanding of political life and political institutions.
- 7. Analyze political theory and theoretical texts and explain how they are relevant to contemporary issues including policy implications.
- 8. Describe the historical dialogue and debate between political theorists and philosophers.
- 9. Engage in political inquiry using theoretical frameworks through which contemporary political institutions and events may be analyzed.
- 10. Describe the ongoing debate in political theory over interpretation of primary sources.
- 11. Examine and debate the relevance of political theory in contemporary society.
